Resolution of the Clergy of the Northern Deaneries of the Eastern American Diocese of the Russian Orthodox Church Outside of Russia (ROCORA)

Having gathered in Holy Trinity Monastery in Jordanville, New York, for the Lenten retreat and conference of the clergy of the Northern Deaneries of the Eastern American Diocese, we, clergy and monastics, have bowed down in worship before the Cross and raised up our prayers for the flock entrusted to us and for the struggle Holy Trinity Monastery is currently engaged in against the Stark - New Leaf Wind Turbine project. We have heard the report of the ongoing process and wish to make the following statement

We are very concerned and disappointed in the lack of foresight and planning that has gone into this project's planning process. New Leaf Energy has failed to respect and address the concerns of both the local communities and the monastery in this matter.

We as pastors and shepherds to our respective communities throughout the Northern Deanery support Holy Trinity Monastery in its struggles against this egregious incursion into the monastic routine and we demand that the Town of Stark veto this project's approval and allow the community to retain its historic, scenic, agricultural and religious strengths.

+Nicholas,

Metropolitan of Eastern America & New York,

First Hierarch of the Russian Orthodox Church Outside of Russia

+Luke

Bishop of Syracuse,

Vicar of the Eastern American Diocese
